

Bermuda Olympic Team Welcomed Officially, Responds With Exhibit

Rooming Greeting is Accorded Visitors Who Trained at Williams Lake Prior to Embarkation for Berlin Tonight.

MANY ATTEND

Speeches by Officials and Leading Citizens a Feature of Evening; To Sail on Europa.

The official welcome ceremonies for the Bermuda Olympic Swimming team which has been in training at Williams Lake since Monday, were held Wednesday evening at the lake course. A large crowd of swim fans attended to hear the welcoming speeches of Mayor Conrad Heiselman and other officials from the city and surrounding townships.

In appreciation of the rooming welcome which they received, the Bermuda boys put on a fine exhibition of swimming and diving that gave the spectators an idea of what Olympic swimming is like.

Roger Baer's orchestra opened the program with the National Anthem. The Hon. C. J. Heiselman, Kingston's mayor, then welcomed the Bermudians on behalf of the city of Kingston. Mr. Heiselman congratulated the Rosendale township and the proprietors of Williams Lake for the fine job they have done in promoting recreational resources in Ulster county, especially swimming, which the mayor stated was one of the best forms of exercise.

Mayor Speaks

In a humorous vein, the mayor said, "If the Bismarcks and Rosendales continue to advance at the rate they have been going, Kingston will soon become known as a suburb of Rosendale." He welcomed the Bermudians and wished them the best of luck at Berlin.

Charles Thilman, supervisor for the town of Rosendale, then acted as starter for the 50 yard dash. After a short speech of welcome, he sent the boys off. John Young won the dash in the fast time of 25 seconds flat.

A. L. Colligan, president of the Kingston Rotary Club, acted as starter for the next event, a 200 yard breaststroke race between Leonard Spence, captain of the Bermuda team and world record holder for the event, and Percy Belvin. Spence negotiated the distance in 2 minutes and 36 seconds and finished 10 feet ahead of Belvin.

In the next event the spectators thrilled to the fancy diving of Reggy Flocco, the National Junior Champion from the Penn A. C. and Charlie Schneider of New Paltz, a member of the Williams Lake Swimming Club.

Senator Wicks is Speaker. State Senator Arthur H. Wicks then gave a brief address, welcoming the Olympic boys on behalf of the state of New York.

W. B. Byrne, vice-president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club, fired the gun for the next event, the 100 yard style handicap. In this race several Ulster county boys competed with the Bermudians. The local boys were given a slight head start. Edmund Cooper of the Olympic team won the race after allowing the county boys a start of about eight seconds. The boys who competed against Cooper were Bill Craft, Emilie Talcott, Vic Mammay, Al Melville and Urbo Walnes.

William R. Kraft, local postmaster, then welcomed the team on behalf of the federal government. Forester Cooper received a round of applause for his fine exhibition of 25-yard backstroke swim.

A Frank Flanagan spoke briefly on the advantages of Ulster county as a recreational center and welcomed the boys on behalf of the Business Men of Kingston.

Spence Gives Exhibition. Leonard Spence then gave an exhibition of the 150 yard medley swim. He swam 50 yards backstroke, 25 yards breaststroke and 75 yards free style.

Reggy Flocco staged a highly amusing comedy diving act. He performed such dives as the "Dying Swan," the "Soldier's Dive," etc., to the delight of the audience. Besides being one of the country's outstanding divers he is one of the funniest comedians. The comedy dives that he performed last night were just as difficult as his more serious dives.

Go to added event, Walter Spence, brother of Leonard, was induced to swim on his last and swim 100 yards in an exhibition. Walter at the event time is the fastest swimmer in the world. He represented Canada in the last two Olympic games and placed in the 100 yards in 1:14.4, just behind the 300 yards in 3:4.4, and won the 200 yards in 2:10.4.

W. B. Byrne, county attorney, then presided over the program with last wishes of a bon voyage to the Olympians. Members of the team who will sail for Berlin are: W. S. Compliments His Committees on Their Plans for Convention

President E. F. Moran of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association and his several committees met Wednesday night at the central fire station to put final touches to plans for the first annual convention of the organization and the big parade this week.

Highly complimentary was President Moran in speaking to his committees for their efforts, manifesting that he anticipates one of the most successful conventions of the fireman order ever held in Kingston when the volunteers of the county assemble to conduct business Friday night at Knights of Columbus Hall and on Saturday afternoon parade through the principal streets of this city.

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, desiring to see the firemen's convention held to the record of others held here by various organizations this summer and last, issues a request that merchants display their flags and decorate appropriately for the occasion the two last days of this week, and that public spirited residents of the various sections of the city do likewise to make the visiting firemen feel at home.

GERMANS TELL LINDBERGH OF THEIR AERIAL ACTIVITIES

Berlin, July 23 (AP)—Germany pointed out to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today its accomplishments in military and civil aviation.

The famous aviator, who arrived from England yesterday with Mrs. Lindbergh, was acclaimed by high Nazi officials, the press and the Berlin populace.

The air ministry honored him at a luncheon which brought together the finest of the nation's fliers.

Colonel Lindbergh shared the spotlight with the Olympics as the newspapers joined in a chorus of praise for the visiting flyer and described his character as symbolizing the heroic qualities which Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler is seeking to impress upon German youth.

Hitler and his air minister, General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, were expected to leave southern Germany for Berlin to meet Colonel Lindbergh before he leaves Germany.

The Lindberghs' arrival at Staaken airport was hailed by 15 great bombing planes drawn up at the edge of the field.

The Lindberghs left the field with Major Truman Smith, the United States military attaché, and Mrs. Smith, who will be their hosts during the visit.

May Be Seeking Record. New York, July 23 (AP)—The liner Queen Mary raced westward toward New York today with indications that if weather conditions are favorable her officers will try to establish a new trans-Atlantic record.

The record for the Queen Mary was set in 1935 when she crossed the Atlantic in 11 hours and 12 minutes, a record held by the French liner Normandie.

The Queen Mary, 26,000 tons, is the fastest ship in the world. She represented Canada in the last two Olympic games and placed in the 100 yards in 1:14.4, just behind the 300 yards in 3:4.4, and won the 200 yards in 2:10.4.

Topeka, Kas., July 23 (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon, on the threshold of a "fighting" campaign to oust the New Deal, said today that President Roosevelt's order extending the merit system to the post office department "shows the advantages of competition."

His remark was made in reply to questions at a press conference on the morning of the day on which the 48-year-old governor formally shoulders the Republican presidential nomination.

In his outer office as he talked, scores of visitors awaited the opportunity to shake the governor's hand before the outdoor events of the political celebration. From the time of his arrival at the state capitol a constant stream of callers passed through the governor's office.

Thousands paraded on downtown Topeka avenues, awaiting the evening ceremonies when Landon will officially accept the Republican nomination.

Mr. Roosevelt's order, extending a new system of civil service tests to all postmaster positions, was raised when the Governor, dressed in a white suit, received half a hundred members of the press.

"I'm glad to see the President do it," Landon said, as he paced slowly behind his desk. "It shows the advantages of competition."

"I hope now that he's made such a good start he will extend the order to WPA—the relief administration," Landon, in a telegram to the Republican National Convention said that in carrying out the platform pledge to restore and improve the merit system, "I believe there should be included every position in the administrative service below the rank of assistant secretaries of major departments and agencies and that this inclusion should cover the entire post office department."

Another question asked Landon was whether, if he is elected, any Democrats would be given cabinet appointments.

"Read my speech," replied the Governor, referring to the acceptance address.

The Republican nominee said he planned to confer tomorrow with John D. M. Hamilton, Republican national chairman, and other party leaders. There will be a series of individual talks rather than a group discussion.

From Landon's window could be heard the blare of bands practicing for a giant triple-columned parade up banner-decked Kansas avenue.

Among early visitors to Landon's office were Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war during Herbert Hoover's administration, Ernest Lee Jahneke of New Orleans, assistant secretary of the navy under Hoover and a number of prominent Kansans including Senator Arthur Capper, Rep. Clifford Hope and Rep. U. S. Guyer.

A luncheon for members of the committee on National and Notification of the Kansas governor was held at the Kansas governor's mansion to meet many party workers. Some of these planned to remain over until Sunday for talks on campaign strategy.

"Better and Better." Hamilton, the Republican chairman, and Rep. Bertrand Snell, of New York, chairman of the Notification Committee, headed the first special train into town, bringing with them a number of Republican dignitaries.

"The situation looks better and better all the time for the Republicans," Hamilton said.

"If things are as good in the midwest as they are in the east, then we're on the way to victory in November," Snell told reporters.

Harrison E. Spangler, Iowa National Committee chairman, added, "The farm belt looks all right. Landon is gaining strength all the time. As for Iowa, we'll carry our state."

Hamilton said he was "pleased" to hear of President Roosevelt's Civil Service order for the Post Office Department.

"He won't do a thing constructive unless he is driven to it," the National Chairman said.

Landon stepped forward formally as the Republican candidate today to open campaign for the presidency in a setting of political pageantry unprecedented in Kansas.

For Landon it was a day of days comparable to the one six weeks ago when his party chose him in national convention.

We left his office door ajar for a morning of handshaking with a few of the thousands streaming into this hunting-striped capital a prelude to the elaborate evening ceremonies for his carefully drafted speech accepting the nomination.

More than 12 hours before the 4 p. m. (Central Standard Time) start of the nationally broadcast address, Robert M. Gouthro, Chamber of Commerce president, estimated the city's guests numbered 20,000.

Roosevelt Order Places All Postmasterships Under Civil Service

Order Affects 13,730 Postmaster-ships of First, Second and Third Classes as Fast as Any Vacancies Occur.

FARLEY REQUEST

O'Mahoney Praises Move and Refers to Legislation; Political Reply to Landon Seen.

Washington, July 23 (AP)—An executive order by President Roosevelt today made all postmaster appointments in the future subject to civil service examination.

The order, signed by the President Monday and made public at the White House last night, affects 13,730 postmasterships of the first, second and third classes as fast as vacancies occur.

Under Mr. Roosevelt's order incumbents chosen for reappointment at the expiration of a term must become eligible by passing a non-competitive civil service examination. It also provides the employees in the postoffice in question may be chosen for promotion to postmaster provided they pass a non-competitive examination.

In other cases, where a vacant office is not filled by reappointment or by the promotion of a subordinate, the order provides that:

"Upon request of the postmaster general, the civil service commission shall forthwith hold an open competitive examination to test the fitness of applicants to fill such vacancy and shall certify the results thereof to the postmaster general, who shall thereupon submit to the President for appointment to fill the vacancy the name of the highest eligible unless it is established to the satisfaction of the civil service commission that the character or residence of such eligible disqualifies him for appointment."

Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), former first assistant postmaster general, wrote praising the move.

Referring to legislation which failed of passage in the last session, O'Mahoney said:

"I know that you would have much preferred the enactment of a statute definitely placing all postmaster positions within the civil service law. That was the hope which actuated you at the beginning of the administration, when you sought an agreement with the congressional leaders of both parties."

An expression of opinion on the postmaster positions and civil service came from Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee, during the national convention of his party at Cleveland.

In a telegram to the convention on the night of his nomination Landon said:

"I believe that there should be included within the merit system every position in the administrative service below the rank of assistant secretaries of major departments and agencies and that this inclusion should cover the entire postoffice department."

Blames Republicans. New York, July 23 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley, discussing President Roosevelt's civil service order on postmasters, said today the Republicans in the House of Representatives prevented passage of legislation providing for such action in the last Congress.

"We were hoping," said Farley, whose leave of absence as postmaster general for the duration of the campaign becomes effective August 1, "the last session of Congress would pass one of the civil service bills with relation to placing all postmasters under civil service."

"Everyone familiar with the last session knows full well the Republicans in the House prevented passage of this type of legislation."

Fascists Thrust at Madrid as Peril Grows; U.S. Consul At Bilbao Asks for Warship

S. S. Exeter Requested to Speed to Barcelona to Take Off U. S. Citizens; Fear Dreadnaughts May Fail to Arrive in Time.

PERILOUS SPOT

Washington, July 23 (AP)—An urgent appeal for the evacuation of American women and children at Bilbao, Spain, by a war vessel was transmitted to the State Department today by Consul William E. Chapman at that place.

After receiving word that an unidentified American woman in the civil war area had been wounded, the government here anxiously awaited an answer to its request that the American export line send its steamship Exeter, now in European waters, to Barcelona to take off United States citizens.

Tension was heightened by a dispatch from the American consul at Gibraltar, saying the British war vessel Shamrock was enroute to Seville in response to a request for protection by the British consul at that place.

155 at Bilbao. The number of Americans known to be in Bilbao prior to the outbreak of the Spanish revolution was placed by the State Department at 155.

The navy reported that the battleship Oklahoma, departing from Cherbourg, France, 10 hours earlier than originally anticipated, would arrive at Bilbao at about midnight Friday (E. S. T.).

Reporting that Bilbao, a northern Spanish seaport, was virtually in a state of siege, Chapman said in a message filed at 10 a. m. today (Spanish time), "A food shortage is very likely to bring about looting since the authorities are not in a position to prevent it."

Chapman's message did not make clear whether Bilbao was in the hands of the Leftist government forces or the Rightist rebels.

Consul Herbert O. Williams at Gibraltar said he had endeavored without success to induce the driver of a hired car to go to Seville but that he hoped to exchange wireless messages with American Consul Charles A. Bay at Seville tonight. His message was transmitted at 1 p. m. (Spanish time) today.

In hands of Communists. Reporting the government of Malaga remained in the hands of Communists and other radical groups, American Consul George M. Graves said that American lives and property at that place had not been harmed but that tension and uncertainty prevailed. Americans at Malaga are thought to number 72.

Fearing the loss of American lives in Spain's fierce civil war, the United States government resorted to extraordinary measures today to speed the evacuation of several hundred of its nationals.

Soon after receiving word that an unidentified American woman had been wounded and other Americans were under fire, the State Department sought to have the American Export Line send its steamship Exeter, now in European waters, to Barcelona to take off United States citizens.

Officials that two United States warships, already ordered to Spain, may not get there before Americans are engulfed in the anarchy situation arising from strife between the Leftist government forces and Rightist rebels.

The Exeter was due in Marseilles, France, today. Whether the arrangements to have her diverted from her course to call immediately at Barcelona could be completed was not yet determined.

Diplomatic dispatches to Washington pictured Barcelona as one of the most perilous spots on the Spanish peninsula. Consul Lynn W. Franklin, in a report received yesterday, said that great numbers of armed Socialists and Communists were pursuing Fascists throughout the city, to the accompaniment of considerable firing.

Advised Americans. Franklin advised all Americans there, numbering several hundred, to remain indoors. He appealed to officials to guarantee the safety of Americans, but was informed that circumstances made this impossible, the report said.

The battleship Oklahoma, and the heavy cruiser Quincy already are under orders to speed to Spain to stand by ready to take away Americans, but they are not expected to arrive before the weekend.

The wounded American woman, whose name was not given, fell victim, presumably to a bullet, at Guadalupe, 21 miles southwest of Madrid, as fighting raged in that vicinity.

Other dispatches told how a number of Americans had been under fire for two days in hotels at Madrid, and estimated food supplies at the be cut off. All available resources in the city were being used to collect and distribute food.

The American diplomatic staff yesterday requested that the government of Spain send a warship to Bilbao to take off United States citizens.

Eric C. Wendelin, third secretary of the Madrid embassy, who is in charge of the building in the absence of Ambassador Claude G. Bowers, told Americans they must bring their passports and stamps traveling bags and toilet articles, and if practicable a blanket and food for one meal.

Rebels, he said, had killed guards at the city's restaurants, assuming that the water supply might be cut off. All available resources in the city were being used to collect and distribute food.

The government claimed to have crushed the rebellion in at least seven towns.

The long-awaited "decisive" battle near Madrid was given new color by the story of a new rebel drive who, fresh from Burgos, Spain, related in Hendaye that 100,000 rebels were converging on Madrid from two sides.

The government attacked 30,000 rebels on Basque front.

Kingston Will Have Two New Playgrounds, Heiselman Announced

Kingston is to have two new playgrounds, that probably will be fully equipped next summer after extensive work, Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman told a reporter today. One of the proposed playgrounds is in the 3rd Ward and the other in the 13th.

In the 3rd Ward the city owns a parcel of land, 300 by 400 feet, on Grant street, near Garrison street, and this is being surveyed by Engineer James Norton so he can prepare plans for the playground. "This playground is much needed," said the mayor, "to keep the children off the busy East Chester street by-pass. They need a place to play."

The 13th Ward site for a playground was donated to the city for that purpose by the late Judge A. T. Clearwater. It is situated between Brook and Chapel streets and has a beautiful grove for picnics and a brook running through it. Former State Senator Charles Walton, attorney for the Clearwater estate, is now preparing papers so that City Engineer Norton may make a survey of the land and lay out the park.

It is likely that WPA projects will be made out of the work to prepare the parks.

PUBLIC INTOXICATION. CASES IN POLICE COURT. Three men arrested for public intoxication faced City Judge Bernard A. Culliton this morning. Two of them went to jail for five days.

One was James Carney, 62, of Newark, arrested Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at Mill street and Broadway by Patrolman Guernsey Burger on complaint of residents in the vicinity who objected to Carney's imitation of a one-man band. He tried to play three tin whistles at one time. Robert Chamberlain, 31, of Accord, arrested at Hasbrouck avenue and East Strand by Officer Burger, went to jail lacking $5 to pay his fine. Ernest Everett of Albany was given a suspended sentence.

Problems Protection. Syracuse, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—After nineteen persons were arrested in disorders at the Remington-Rand plant, where workers have been on strike for two months, Police Chief Thomas H. Carroll promised "full police protection to all persons who want to work" today and announced he had cancelled furloughs and rest days for his men to prevent a recurrence. A plant foreman and a child were injured in the disturbances which occurred as workers were leaving the factory last night. Police said several hundred pickets gathered in a parking lot across the street and joined the workers. Rocks were hurled and the pickets and workers clashed in the street, police said.

The embassy open to all United States citizens, inviting them to go there and live during the turmoil.

Eric C. Wendelin, third secretary of the Madrid embassy, who is in charge of the building in the absence of Ambassador Claude G. Bowers, told Americans they must bring their passports and stamps traveling bags and toilet articles, and if practicable a blanket and food for one meal.

BRITISH ROUSED

British Give Warning That Rebels Keep Bombs Clear of His Majesty's Ships.

(By The Associated Press)

Government airplanes bombed rebel army barracks at Zaragoza, Spain, today in a fresh assault intended to help break the back of a revolution now in its seventh day.

Despite anti-aircraft fire at this rebel stronghold in northeastern Spain, the planes augmented a column of militiamen organized to reinforce 4,000 loyalists determined to take Zaragoza by storm.

On a wide battlefield of the civil war, which some sources estimated had taken a toll of 25,000 dead and wounded, loyalist forces of Spain's liberalist government forces marched out of Madrid to meet the threat of two Fascist columns converging on the capital.

Word received in Hendaye, France, said the Madrid-bound Fascist columns faced a firm defense by a trained army of 36,000 civil guards.

Bitterest Fighting

That the bitterest fighting seemed to center around Zaragoza and Seville, in southwestern Spain, was interpreted by observers as an indication of how widespread the rebellion remained.

But, the government announced, "the situation is improving from hour to hour."

Other battles were reported at Albacete, Guadalajara, and other points. The government announced rebels at Cordoba, in the south, had surrendered.

British naval guns boomed a "warning" to Spanish rebel air bombs off Tarifa, Spain, and British and French warnings went out the left government at Madrid to keep its fleet out of the international harbor at Tangier. Moreover Britain warned the rebels to keep their bombs clear of his majesty's ships.

At Barcelona, Provincial President Luis Companys appealed to his people to support the loyal militia. "To arms against Fascism," he shouted.

A report today from Hendaye, France, said 100,000 Fascist rebels had started a march on Madrid. It was the seventh day of Spain's bitter civil war.

British Ship Fires

A British destroyer, H. M. S. Wildswan, answered rebel bombs off Tarifa, Spain, with a "warning" fire. Two insurgent aviators were said to have dropped a number of bombs which exploded close to the Wildswan's bows.

In a sharply drawn protest, Great Britain advised General Francisco Franco, the Spanish rebel leader, that "deliberate and irresponsible bombing of the shipping straits" off Gibraltar would lead to protective and retaliatory acts.

Why Gulf is the Gas for July

"IS IT COOL OUT THERE, GIRL?"

Well, it's hot most of the time on shore. July requires a gasoline that's made to a special hot-weather formula. Otherwise, you don't get the mileage you pay for... part of the fuel escapes out the exhaust unburned, wasted. Ask for That Good Gulf in July—its formula fits the weather. And because it's "Kept in Step with the Calendar," all of it goes to work, none of it goes to waste. Try a tankful.

Officers Elected by Veterans of F-51

That "it's always fair weather when good fellows get together" was much in evidence Wednesday evening at the Golden Rule Inn, the occasion being the annual meeting and banquet of the Pioneer Veterans of F-51. Previous to the dinner the members held a brief meeting at which the following officers were elected: Gordon Van Kleeck, president; Henry Munch, first vice president; Benjamin Bleitshofer, second vice president; Eugene Cornwell, secretary; Peter Keresman, treasurer; Edward Wortman, historian; and Frank Jager, sergeant-at-arms.

Following the meeting the members and a number of invited guests sat down to a chicken dinner with all the trimmings. Peter Keresman, who acted as toastmaster during the evening, called the attention of the members to the effort which the retiring president, Vernon Huston, had made to make the affair a success and then in behalf of the organization presented him with a maple lamp and end table. The gifts came as a complete surprise to the retiring president who was very appreciative of the thoughtfulness of the members.

During the evening several vocal solos were rendered by Benjamin Bleitshofer which were well received by the members. Group singing of the songs of World War days by various members and friends helped to make the evening a most enjoyable one.

While the membership is not large due to the fact of the small number from here who served in that company of the Fifty-first Pioneer Infantry, the difference was made up in enthusiasm and good fellowship during the evening.

Those who attended the affair last evening are now looking forward to having a pig roast in November for which the organization has an enviable reputation of putting it on in grand style.

It was late in the evening when the annual affair was over and the members left for home after having again participated in one of the most successful social affairs held by the veterans.

"HUNGER ARMY" INVADES CAPITAL

Demanding $100,000,000 for relief of the unemployed, several hundred members of a self-styled "hunger army" invaded the Pennsylvania capitol at Harrisburg and camped in its vast rotunda, threatening to remain until their demands were met. Some of them are shown on the grand staircase. (Associated Press Photo)

"Hunger Army" Is Still at Capitol

Harrisburg, Pa., July 23 (P)—A jeering "hunger army", clamoring for more than twice the amount of relief the legislature said it would provide, "occupied" Pennsylvania's capitol today for the second day.

Angered by the legislature's failure to renew aid, shut off Tuesday midnight, several hundred unemployed men, women and children slept in the Senate galleries, on the marble staircase and in the halls and corridors again last night.

They demanded $100,000,000 immediate relief and told the legislators "We'll not get out 'till we get it." The House and Senate have agreed on a $45,000,000 relief program.

They heckled and jeered the Senate for hours yesterday. They hooted and booed as the Senate passed a bill proposing that the state sell $49,500,000 worth of notes to be repaid from future taxes, $16,000,000 of the sum to be used for immediate relief.

"That's just a smoke screen. Quit stalling!" they shouted. The tax notes bill was sent over to the Democratic House, where members said a doubtful fate awaited it.

New Dealers contend the proposal is "just another way of making special notice." Governor Earle has further "raiding of funds."

Five new delegations arrived last night including one from Philadelphia, and leaders said more would reach the capital tomorrow.

troops against them. What reinforcements this force would have was not indicated.

Premier Jose Giral Pereira announced, "the situation is improving from hour to hour."

Radio stations in the hands of insurgents broadcast claims of victory. A consensus from sources outside Spain tended to indicate that the rebels probably were achieving success in the far north and in the south.

Clash Impends

Madrid, July 23.—Loyal forces of Spain's liberal government forces marched out of Madrid today to clash with Fascist revolutionaries on a wide battlefield of civil war.

The fiercest fighting seemed in progress around Zaragoza and Seville, with rebel columns believed moving on the capital from both Burgos and Segovia and 30,000 defenders swarming out to meet them.

"The situation is improving from hour to hour," said the government, announcing a fierce bombardment of the rebel-held airdrome at Seville.

Other battles were reported at Albacete, Guadalajara and elsewhere, with Liberalist government officials again claiming the upper hand.

The government announced later in the day the rebels at Cordoba, in the south, had surrendered.

In Madrid, organizations of the Leftist Popular Front took over several buildings for defensive purposes.

Officers of the coalition administration as well as representatives of Syndicalists, and the armed militia anarchists installed headquarters in aristocratic clubs and palaces.

Civilians Posted

Armed civilians were posted as the doors of the buildings. The former plant of the Rightist newspaper El Debate was taken over for publication of Leftist papers.

Official and unofficial reports indicated many hundred men already lay dead as the republic entered the seventh day of the uprising of Rightists against the Leftist regime.

The government claimed to have crushed the rebellion in at least seven towns, but there were no authoritative indications as to which side was gaining the upper hand in fierce battles at Seville and Zaragoza.

Rebel columns were reported moving on Madrid from Burgos and Segovia. The government thrust 30,000 troops against them out of the capital.

Their nucleus was composed of loyal divisions of assault and civil guards flanked by armed Communists and Socialists.

Other loyal troops attacked Zaragoza from Lerida. Government officials said the attack would be decisive.

The situation is improving from hour to hour," said Premier Jose Giral Pereira. "The rebel forces at Albacete will be overcome during the morning and the navy will bombard Tetuan."

At Guadalajara, it was reported, all rebel officers fell under Loyalist fire except six who were arrested.

Government airmen who rained bombs on Seville airdromes said they had destroyed rebel fuel stores, keeping Fascist planes on the ground.

Loyal aviators were ordered to bomb the rebel center of Melilla, Spanish Morocco.

Claims of rebel victories were heard over the radio from stations in the hands of insurgents. No confirmation of such victories was made by the government, however.

Socialist and Communist groups patrolled Madrid in a tireless lookout for Fascists, frustrating any attempt by Fascists to concentrate in the capital.

Part of MILITIA

The militia also played a large role in the capture of Alcala de Henares, Guadalajara and other towns. One thousand of the men cooperated in the attack on Guadalajara.

An eyewitness to this encounter reported: "The attack did not start until we had eleven field guns brought from Alcala de Henares."

"The silence was only broken when the first four volleys were fired. Then the guns were fired rapidly and the rebels were seen running from attack on one of the hills."

"Then another group of rebels fled."

"We waited ten minutes for a reaction from the rebels. When the loyal men drew nearer to the bridge (before Guadalajara), the rebels opened fire with machine guns."

"The artillery fired 29 volleys and the real fight was begun. Our three tanks advanced slowly and swept the railroad station and the slope of the hill."

"The artillery laid down a box barrage ahead of the fleeing rebels. Meanwhile our machine guns, rifles and tanks swept the bridge and the railroad station."

"Still the rebels refused to surrender."

"Our field pieces were silent for a while, but all at once they began a rapid fire toward the town. We increased our rifle and machine gun fire."

"We came nearer the rebels. Our men held their ranks defying the intense fire directed against them."

"Suddenly the guns of our men opened across the battlefield."

"Our advance patrol had already entered the city. Our columns entered us."

"We seized the railroad station and the aviation school in which the rebels had taken refuge."

"We found some of the rebel officers dead. The remainder were arrested."

Government Confidence

Small groups of rebels were reported within several hundred miles of the capital. The government was confident of annihilating them.

SPANISH REBELS MARCHING TOWARD MADRID

Here are rebel troops, Spanish Fascists, marching from the town of Burgos enroute to Madrid. Within a short distance of the Spanish capital there were several sharp engagements between the rebels and government troops. This photo was rushed to Bordeaux, France, telephoned to London, and radioed to New York. Note the Fascist salute of the two men at left. (Associated Press Photo).

or driving the insurgents far from Madrid.

Luis Companys, Catalanian leader, announced a Loyal column had left Lerida to attack Zaragoza. A force left Madrid for Segovia and from there to Zaragoza.

Lieut. Col. Candido, chief of the Catalanian air force, announced he had flown over Zaragoza and had dropped 60 bombs, destroying the rebel barracks. Surrender of the city by insurgents was reported imminent.

The newspaper El Heraldo said, "every battle is a victory. The Spanish people are unshaken by their desire for liberty and are writing a new epic poem of independence. Spain is giving birth to its glorious future with much suffering."

Socialist and Communist organizations issued a note advising the militia to spare ammunition. "One bullet for each definite object. Powder should not be wasted in salvos," they instructed.

Injured in Early Morning Crash

George Mericle of Rifton was treated at the Kingston Hospital early this morning for cuts and bruises suffered in an automobile collision at the corner of Henry street and Clinton avenue, then released from the institution.

Radio car patrolmen, George Bowlers and Clarence Brophy, who investigated the accident, reported to police headquarters that Mericle, driving a Chevrolet coach north on Clinton avenue, collided with the Ford pick-up truck driven by Max Levinson of 30 Wall street, traveling east on Henry street. Both cars were damaged, Mericle's having to be towed to Doc Smith's Garage. Levinson reported no injuries. No arrests were made.

NO RADIO CLUB MEETINGS PLANNED FOR AUGUST

The meeting of the Kingston Radio Communications League was held last evening at the home of Leroy Fuller, 57 Boulevard.

There will be no meeting of the club during the month of August. The next meeting will be held September 9, at 8 p. m., at the home of Ralph DeGraft, (W-2-HUB), 42 Fairmont avenue.

The receiver building contest which was to be held last evening will be held at that time. A Triplett D. C. millimeter will go to the winner. There will also be a booby prize.

Refreshments were served after the meeting through the courtesy of Mrs. Fuller.

OVERWORKED STARS

Phy the makers of talkies these days. Their lives are just one problem after another. Not the least problem, at the present time, is the raiding of movie studios by radio. It is said that five-minute participation in one radio program by a screen celebrity cost the talkie producer $50,000 for time lost in making a picture. It might not be so bad if the talkie actor could do his radio stuff right from the movie lot. But usually he can't. He has to go to a few rehearsals and he has to travel to a radio studio somewhere. Occasionally this means fast driving from a location miles out of town. Sometimes it means an airplane flight. Sometimes, too, a radio appearance suddenly "queers" a screen success.

One might think that radio wouldn't have to use artists or "big names" borrowed from another amusement field. The reason seems to be that the public insists on concentrating for a while on a few popular stars. They must be seen and heard in talkies, heard on the radio and, where possible, seen and heard in "personal appearances" on the stage. It is hard for radio to build up its own artists while listeners are demanding artists from other fields that are "tops" for the moment. But the talkie makers can't complain too much. They go after stage and radio favorites in the same way.

PEACE PILGRIMAGE

World War veterans from 14 countries, invited by a French group, gathered on July 12 at Verdun for an unusual peace demonstration. The number present was estimated as 20,000 to 30,000. There were 600 Germans among them, fraternizing with their former enemies on French soil for the first time since the war. It was a "peace pilgrimage", with the special purpose of paying tribute to the dead by pledging to support peace. Politics, propaganda and speeches were absent.

The seriousness of the participants may be judged by the fact that the middle-aged veterans traveled 150 miles in jolting busses, ate only cold meals by the roadside and slept on straw beds in improvised billets to make their two-day demonstration. From Verdun they marched slowly to the Douaumont Ossuary to stand silently at the graves of fallen comrades. Bells tolled, bands played dirges, minute guns were fired and bugle calls blown. Earnestly they spoke the words, "This is for the peace of the world."

These men, who know war from their own experience and suffering, came from France, Germany, Austria, the United States, Great Britain, Italy, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Greece, Portugal, Belgium, Roumania and Denmark. Hungary and Bulgaria were not represented but sent cordial messages. It was an impressive demonstration, and one arousing faith that some day war will be conquered.

CRAZY SPEED

Another speedy Englishman in a specially-built racing car recently burned up the salt flats of Utah and broke some 60 driving records as fast as the American Automobile Association officials said it would take weeks to complete calculations. But a few of Capt. George Eyston's accomplishments were recognized at once:

He drove 162,520 miles in one hour. Aided by the salt driver, he drove 6,585 miles in 48 hours at an average speed of 136.354 miles an hour. He averaged 149.03 miles an hour for 24 hours. The old 48-hour record, held by three Frenchmen, was 109.54 miles an hour. Most of Eyston's records were made on distance runs. He says he is coming back next year "for a crack at the short distance records." The first, 12-cylinder car used has a more appropriate name than Mr. Eyston's "Bloodhound". It is

"Speed of the Winds". And what's it all about? Such driving furnishes thrills for the drivers and spectators. It tests everything about the car—motor, tires, body, etc. But it seems a mad performance, whether regarded as a sporting stunt or an automotive experiment.

DEARER FOODS

The immediate sufferers from the great drouth are by no means the only ones. The ultimate cost will be borne largely by the ultimate consumers of farm goods. Buyers of milk and other dairy products are already feeling it over a large area. Meat may be cheaper temporarily, while cattle, hogs and poultry are dumped upon the market to prevent their starving to death; but the resulting scarcity is sure to raise prices later, and speculation or fear may hasten the process.

It should be remembered that this catastrophe is not merely a local or sectional one, but involves most of the country directly through the vast extent of the drouth, and involves it as a whole because of the spread of the agricultural market. To a much greater extent than usual this is a national calamity. Any natural increase in living cost should therefore be borne as patiently as possible, but there should be no patience with speculators, wholesalers or retailers who use the drouth as an excuse for profiteering.

WHEN THE HEARING FAILS

When the hearing begins to fail it is only natural that we should think that it is due to a passing or temporary condition such as a cold in the head, to cerumen or wax in the outer ear, or some other simple cause.

Now a cold in the head and wax in the ear can lessen the degree of hearing but when the cold has passed, or the wax removed and the hearing is still poor, our first thought should not be to seek some "cure" for deafness but to go to a good ear specialist and find out just why we are becoming "hard of hearing." Just as the cause of poor eyesight is not due to any one cause, so also poor hearing is not due to one cause. Dr. Samuel J. Kopecky, professor of ear diseases, New York Polytechnic Medical School and Hospital, outlines in Hygeia the various types of deafness.

"There is a certain type of deafness which is inherited; it runs in families and often starts from an acute sickness. Some types of deafness are due to lack of lime in the system which affects the little bones in the middle ear which conduct sound from outer to inner ear. Some types are due to damage to the nerve which conducts the sound from the inner ear to the brain (the acoustic nerve), which is either partly or completely destroyed. There are other types where infection has settled in the middle ear leaving scar tissue which interferes with transferring sound from the outer to the inner ear.

And last, there is deafness due to repeated colds and other infections in the nose, the sinuses, the throat or the little tube which carries air from the throat to the middle ear to keep the ear drum tense on both sides. This type has been called the catarrhal form of deafness and is due to the thickening of the lining in the middle ear."

If then deafness may be due to any one or more of the above conditions you can readily see that treatment to relieve deafness will vary according to the cause and that no one "cure" is possible for all cases. If the ear specialist advises that no treatment or operation can help the hearing, then Dr. Kopecky says that there is some help in the use of artificial hearing aids. Not only do they prevent further loss of hearing but they help the wearer keep alive whatever degree of hearing he possesses, and by reeducating the auditory nerve and its apparatus, they tend to improve what is left of hearing."

Mice in Milady's Hair

Common Many Years Ago

As a result of historical study of the Eighteenth century, a writer in the Journal of the Royal Society of Arts says that during that period in England women were most elaborate dress-dressers. A head generally lasted three weeks before it was "opened" and afterwards was as long as it could safely go to summer. One went to bed in a nightcap of the extraordinary variety, made of stiffened tulle or pompadour, or, at any rate, in a strong set wig. According to contemporary art, a lady sleeping in all this artificiality of coiffure could well look delighted.

An advertisement of 1777 shows, however, that it provided fresh work for the surgeons of the streets and the law: "The many melancholy accidents," it reads, "which have lately happened to consequence of mice getting into the hair of the night cap have induced the Society of Art, at their next meeting, to offer a premium to the person who should invent the safest and most useful head-dress for a winter. A silver trap is now invented by Mr. James Harrison, in New Bond Street, price 3 guineas. He also sells nightcaps made of silver wire, so flexible in shape and set so strong that no mouse or even rat can pass through them."

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

Chapter 36

SUICIDE

"IT'S about this 'ere business on Monday night, mister," Alf Dury said to Hynton at the Moreshead station. "What I told you about meeting the young gentleman who 'ad the cigaret case was gospel, I'll swear to that in the box. It's about when 'e left I thought I ought to tell you of, like."

"What happened then?"
 "Well mister after the young gentleman 'ad gone I thought to myself, 'All Dury where's yer support?' and seeing I was near the big 'ouse up the lane, I thought I'd go up and see if there was anything doing."

"See if you could steal anything," the Superintendent put in. "Go on."

Dury blinked his eyes virtuously at the interruption.

"To see if there was anything doing 'Corse I knew the ol' boy was pretty close and all that, but I'd thought 'no 'arm in 'aving a look round, so up I went. There's a kind of a back drive runs up to 'e 'ouse from the lane and I was just about turning in there when I 'eard someone coming down it. I drew back a bit into the shadow and in about 'alf a minute along comes the sergeant."

"The what?" Hynton asked.
 "The police sergeant from Ender-ton, the same one as you took me to see last night."

Hynton looked from Dury to the Superintendent. "You're talking through your hat Dury, you must have made a mistake."

"Not likely, I saw 'im as plain as plain. I've seen Sergeant White about on the roads fifty times and I reckoned him."

"What time was this?"
 "Not many minutes after the 'arf-hour."

"What half hour?"
 "Seven, mister, I was in Ender-ton before eight."

Hynton stared at the tramp with a worried expression on his face—he was recalling vividly that unexpected moment in the police cottage when Alice White had plucked him by the arm.

"You're spinning a yarn Dury," he said suddenly, "what's at the back of it? What have you got against Sergeant White?"

"Honest to Gawd mister it's the truth. I haven't got a thing against the Sergeant, 'e's never 'ad me up or anything. All I know is the truth and that is Sergeant White come down the back drive there as near 'arf past seven Monday night as doesn't matter."

"Um. Supposing we pretend to be here you for a minute, what did you do then?"

"Mister," Alf Dury said with great earnestness, "I beat it straight to the 'ops at Ender-ton—I was there before eight. I can prove it."

"Why are you suddenly telling us this yarn Dury?" Hynton asked.
 "Why one tale last night and another now?"

"Because I've been thinking Mister, and I'm not quite a fool yet. First thing I says to myself when I 'eard the ol' boy had been kiboshed was 'You 'old 'your tongue Alf Dury; them as 'don't speak 'can get into trouble.' I says, All right. Then comes yesterday, me asking for a lift innocent-like and copping all this packet of trouble."

"I was fair put about I can tell you, especially when you ran me into Sergeant White's 'ouse. I told the tale as I thought best at the moment leaving out about going any nearer the big 'ouse than the end of the lane. But last night in the cell I 'ad time to think a bit more, and I thought, 'suppose the Sergeant saw me same time as I seen 'im'."

"My Gawd, that put me in a sweat, I don't mind telling you Mister. I could see meself 'anging next. So this afternoon I decided I might as well tell the extra bit, and that's Gawd's own Gospel truth mister if it's on me death-bed."

"SEND him back to the cells Superintendent," Hynton said after a long pause, and when Mr. Alf Dury had been duly disposed of the two police officers faced each other.

"Well, what do you make of it?" the Superintendent asked.
 Hynton shook his head. "I honestly don't know what to make of it. He must be lying of course, but why?"

"Why should he go to all this trouble to lie?"
 "Damn it all that's just what I'm asking."

"Unless he really is scared that White saw him there then."
 "But White wasn't there then, that's the whole point; he didn't get to the house until well after nine, we know that."

"No, that's right Inspector. I wonder if White has had any dealings with Dury before—had him up for, vagrancy or anything?"

"He didn't say so last night, but it's possible."
 "Do you know, Inspector, I can't help thinking that fellow is telling the truth, somehow."

"Who, Dury?" Hynton laughed.
 "Well, to put your mind to rest I'll go straight back to White and see what he says about the whole thing."

"Well, maybe that's best. Shall I order the car for you?"

Hynton stopped the car at the Hoops and sent it back from there. He was feeling so ravenously hungry that he decided his interview with Sergeant White could be postponed for twenty minutes. This interval was put to excellent use in the back room at the Hoops and he was a more cheerful Hynton who set out on foot later for the Police Cottage.

Reflection during his meal time had made it more evident than ever to him that Alf Dury's tale for some inscrutable reason best known to that strange individual must be a tissue of lies. Men usually lie from vanity or fright, the Inspector knew. Vanity is a quantity so incalculable that it admits of no reasoning; but if Alf Dury was lying from fright, what was he really frightened of?

Hynton sincerely hoped that White did know something about the man, for more, certainly, would have to come to light before they could be satisfied. All this went forward on the surface of his mind; underneath, aided by the feeling of ease consequent upon good food and tobacco, was the comfortable thought that when the Dury business was disposed of a game of chess with Sergeant White would be a very pleasant thing.

No light was showing in front so the Inspector made his way round to the back. All this, too, was in darkness, rather to his surprise—surprise which was increased considerably when on making to knock on the kitchen door he found it to be ajar.

HE FELT certain that the house would hardly be left unlocked with nobody in it and pushing the door wide open he stepped inside and called "White."

His voice ran round the little kitchen and died away in the dark interior of the cottage. There was no answer; but the Inspector standing there on the threshold of the dark kitchen got the distinct impression that something moved near him.

Once again he called out "White" and once again there was no answer; he took an undecided pace into the kitchen to investigate and, then abruptly stopped. His step had brought his face into contact with something twist floor and ceiling; bewilderment he put up his hand to examine this unexpected object, and found that it swung away from him with a ponderous facility. His fingers encountered the roughness of serge cloth, the smooth roundness of a button.

"What the devil—" he muttered to himself and then suddenly stopped in a cold sweat of horror and fear.

"God," he swore stupidly to himself and without more ado heeled away until he hit the kitchen wall and his hand stumbled on the electric light switch.

The merciless yellow efficiency lit up the small kitchen. The table had been pushed, or kicked, to one side, and what now adorned the centre of the room was the body of Sergeant James White dependent by a stout piece of rope from a rod that ran close to the ceiling.

Sergeant James White's face was not a pretty sight to look at; it was the face of a man who has deliberately choked himself to death by slow strangulation—which is what even the most skillful of self-hangers amounts to. His hands were handcuffed in front of his body. On the kitchen table, weighted down by a long, sharp bread knife lay some sheets of paper, the top one inscribed:

"Detective Inspector Kingsley Hynton."

SALE FOR BLIND WILL BE HELD IN WOODSTOCK

The patronage of those who believe that the constructive work for the blind should be supported has kept the blind workers off of the retail rolls during the past few strenuous years. These sightless producers have been kept continuously busy in the various shops for the blind throughout the state. The sales of merchandise made by the sightless have been very successful due to the kindness of the many supporters and friends of the blind.

Woodstock is planning a sale to help these blind who are so bravely helping themselves. This sale will be held on Saturday, August 1, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. on the Village Green.

Mrs. Lillian Downer, general chairman in charge of the sale, and the various committees arriving at the sale, ask all to give full support to this worthy cause.

These producers have made, Lady Fingerprint, shawls and pillow cases, tablecloths, napkins, and also make, brooms, sweaters, leather goods, brooms and more. Blind girls weave, on hand looms and make, from the weaving, very attractive hand and knitting bags. The blind make articles which you will see every day in your home. Why not buy them from the blind?

Washington Daybook

By FREDSON GIBBER

WASHINGTON—Optimism is divided in Washington on how reports of improvement in business will affect the two parties.

Some Republicans and others have been wondering whether evidence of approaching good times will cause many voters to throw up anything which might disturb it, such as a drive against "economic royalists."

From the very beginning, Democratic spokesmen have attributed the rise out of the depression largely to administration agencies, even some of those which operated only for a time before they were thrown out by the courts, such as NRA.

They argue further, that improvement started by such agencies might be jeopardized by a change of policy—i.e., election of a Republican administration.

Headlines Tell Improvement

BUT the other side has been taken by those speculating on the effect of two lines of attack. One line of attack has been employed by many Republicans in calling the Roosevelt tendency "radical." Another has been somewhat indirect, through defense of industry and busi-

Events Around
The Empire State

Whitehall, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Jack Tappen of this village went looking for spikes from the old Cananda which sank during the War of 1812 and found two dinner plates that may have come through the battle of Lake Champlain.

He said the plates were in excellent condition although a trifle brownish in color. They bore replicas of wild strawberries and leaves on the front and the reverse side carried the inscription: "Wild strawberry, Dalehall Pottery Co., England."

During low water, the hulks of the Cananda and two similar boats may be seen resting on the bottom of Easy Bay.

Rochester, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Alma Polidexter Hayden, 82, poet, died here yesterday. She received a Carnegie award for her inspirational war poems and letters of appreciation from Queen Mary of England and the late King Albert of Belgium.

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Resolutions opposing installation of parking meters in city streets were unanimously adopted by directors of the New York State Automobile Association meeting here. J. Mack Young, of New York city, president, said that "this parking meter proposition is another nuisance which the motorist must vigorously combat." He declared it puts another tax on the already overburdened car owner.

Middletown, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—E. H. LeRoy, associate superintendent of the river flood control project, said two skeletons uncovered near the Wallkill river would be sent to the New York State Historical society. LeRoy said he believed the skeletons, although well preserved, were those of Indians at least 200 years old.

Troy, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Mrs. Stella Rance, 53, was held in the Rensselaer county jail today on a charge of assault, second degree in connection with the acid burning of eight boys and a girl. She submitted voluntarily to arrest yesterday. District Attorney Charles J. Ranney said she told him she was washing windows at the time the nine were showered with an acid solution.

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—The State Conservation Department warned hunters, fishermen and trappers today to carry their licenses with them and to display buttons prominently on their clothing when they venture afield. Two amendments to the conservation law passed by the 1936 legislature provide arrest and prosecution in a criminal action for failure to carry a license and forfeiture of the license and button for non-display of the button, the department said.

Danville, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—An airplane flight to Portugal planned by Joseph Costa, 27-year-old Corning pilot, for this week has been postponed indefinitely for the third time. Costa said the Department of Commerce has demanded proof of his ability to navigate the ship and has ordered him to decrease the gasoline capacity of the plane which now, the department claims, is too great for the wings.

Need More Water
In Hot Weather

Ithaca, N. Y., July 23.—New York farmers are urged to examine closely the water supply in pastures because in hot weather cattle need extra amounts for body comfort.

Professor H. A. Hopper, of the state college of agriculture, says cows may go to the brook or water hole during the dry period and may or may not get enough to satisfy their thirst. Cows may also get an additional amount at the barn, but "unless there is an abundance of pure water to which they can go at any time, milk flow will be affected. When hungry cows have to struggle for water in a dry pasture, profitable production has long since passed out of the picture."

"Animals are not given salt to induce them to drink water. Their demands for water are perfectly natural. Salt is required to aid the body in getting rid of certain substances obtained from forage, notably potassium. From salt, the animal also obtains chlorine, essential to the digestive juices."

The Cornell professor of animal husbandry points out that recent reports show a favorable relation between the price of milk and the price of feed. Cheaper feed is not of greatest importance in summer, he says, but it should encourage dairymen to feed what grain is needed on pasture and to condition cows that will calve in the fall.

Harry Richmond, Broadway night club entertainer and film actor, is an aviation enthusiast who flies his own plane.

Making his first appearance at the school will be Donald Jacoby of York, Pa., as cornet soloist. Young Jacoby is considered by Mr. Williams to be an outstanding discovery. Two of Mr. Williams' recent pupils, Frank Elsass and Leonard Smith, are now featured soloists with the Goldman Band in New York city.
Also on tonight's program are two solos by Miss Christine Hoch, contralto, and a duet by Miss Vineta Boulton of Pottstown, Pa., and Henry Collins, Jr., of Elmira, New York. The brass department will be represented by a quartette composed of the Misses Ada De Walt of Canton, Ohio, Barbara and Jeanne Coutant of Queens Village, L. I., and Millie Cameron of Southampton, L. I. Jack Atherton of New York city will play a violin solo. There will be various other soloists and ensemble groups representing all departments of the school.
The first public recital of the Williams School, last Thursday evening, was very well attended by residents of Kingston and Saugerties and the vicinity. The audience showed by its enthusiastic applause that it considered the young artists worthy of the highest praise. Tonight's recital promises to be equally interesting, and the public is again cordially invited.

RATTLESNAKE NOT VICIOUS SAYS ARIZONA PROFESSOR
Tucson, Ariz. (AP)—Rattlesnakes are not naturally vicious, declared Dr. Charles T. Voorhis, University of Arizona entomologist, but the diamond backed variety is very excitable.
"Rattles strike because of fear or excitement," he said, "but not because they are man's natural enemy. The only creatures they are naturally at war with are those they eat."
"They are not as vicious as the non-venomous red racer snake."
An now maybe the weather will be good for a while.

Self-Supporting Students Earn To Learn

At Berea College in Kentucky, where enrollees pay their way by working on school-sponsored projects, there is no time for football. Students are shown here taking part in a "labor day" contest. Left to right: Milking, weaving and broom-making.

Berea, Ky. (AP)—Students at Berea College really work for their grades.

Numbering about 2,000 they spend 10 to 15 hours a week on campus jobs during the school term and up to seven hours a day through the summer vacation if they do not go home.

Even the poorest thus are able to support themselves and pay their own way while learning useful occupations as well as book knowledge.

Earning 10 to 25 cents an hour, the students are graded not only on class-room recitations but on their work.

Projects include a large farm,

5,600 acre forest, power plant, fire and water departments, telephone system, factories and shops, cooperative store and hotel.

Students have no time for football. They attend religious services regularly but are not required to adopt any creed. None may use liquor, tobacco or automobiles, and the girls do not wear silk dresses. They are not allowed to enter eating places or amusement houses not controlled by the college or to visit persons of the opposite sex in private.

The plan is so popular, says Dr. William James Hutchins, the white haired college president, many who apply for entrance must be turned away.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press

Travelling Fire

Augusta, Ga.—Fire was brought to water when the Augusta fire department couldn't get water to the fire.

The firemen found a freight car loaded with 56 bales of cotton linters ablaze on the Augusta belt line outside the city limits and beyond reach of the department's hose. A railroad switch engine crew moved the flaming car within range of the fire hose. The blaze was extinguished quickly.

Bee Barrage

Millersburg, O.—When Sheriff Harry L. Weiss arrived to arrest Edward F. Prinz, a farmer, on a charge of evading a court eviction order, Prinz opened four bee hives. The sheriff kept his distance but planned some strategy. He called Prinz to his car "to talk it over."

Autographed Pants

Albany, N. Y.—A nine-year-old boy rushed up to Governor Herbert H. Lehman and Mayor John Boyd Thacher during a halt in the charter day parade here.

He asked them to sign their names on his pants. The officials looked embarrassed but gave the autographs when the boy assured them he was "not going to wear his white suit any more."

Karen Morley, wife of Director Charles Vidor, lives on a cliff estate overlooking the sea, with only one entrance from the land side. When the iron gates are opened, a loud gong rings, dogs bark, and servants are warned.

Free Course on Board Training Ship

In order to acquaint the youth of America with the opportunities of a career as officers in the United States Merchant Marine, the American Nautical Academy, National Training School for Merchant Marine Officers, Washington, D. C., announced today that boys and young men between the ages of 10 and 26 years will be allowed to secure practical ship experience on board a training vessel of the Academy within the period from July 1st to October 1st.

The young men may remain on board ship for the entire period or for any shorter time they may wish, but not for less than two weeks.

There is no tuition charge for any of the courses offered by the Academy, and no obligation for future merchant marine, military or naval service of any kind is incurred by the young men.

There is no charge for instruction nor for living quarters on board ship. The only required expense is for meals which are 48 cents each. Three meals are served daily.

The schoolship to which the young men will be assigned is the Training Ship "Marsala", a five-masted barkentine-rigged vessel of 2500 tons, 200 feet long, and 46 feet wide. The vessel was built in 1919-20 and is one of the largest sailing vessels in the world.

While on board ship cadets will receive free medical treatment when necessary. On Sundays the young men will be allowed to attend divine services at the churches of their respective denominations on shore.

This is the seventh annual summer course offered by the Academy, and will be under the personal supervision of the Captain Commandant of the Academy who will be in command of the vessel.

While on board ship the boys will follow the regular daily ship routine, and will be given practical instruction in nautical subjects including seamanship (ship's work), signalling, rowing, handling, and the use of motor boats and life boats, swimming, life-saving, and naval drills. They will also receive instruction in the use of life buoys, first aid, the compass, log, and lead, ground tackle, and the duties of lookouts, as well as the duties of the watch in port and at sea.

Students will join the training ship in the vicinity of New York harbor for the summer training period.

Those completing the summer course with a passing grade will be eligible to apply for a scholarship in the regular course.

The regular course covers a period of three years. The first two of these years the cadet spends cruising and studying on the training ship. For the third year the cadet is assigned to an ocean going steamship of one of the merchant marine lines. Following the completion of these three years of sea service the cadet is eligible to take the officer's examination of the United States Bureau of Navigation and Inspection, Department of Commerce, for a certificate as a Third Officer in the Deck Division of ocean going steamships in the Merchant Service of the United States. This is the highest certificate awarded by the Bureau of Navigation for that rank in so far as it entitles the officer to serve on any size steamship on any ocean.

Due to the fact that the number of accommodations available is limited, those wishing to take advantage of this opportunity should write at once to the American Nautical Academy, National Training School for Merchant Marine Officers, Washington, D. C.

GRAINS OF SALT WILL GIVE STRENGTH TO KANSAS ROAD

Hutchinson, Kas. (AP)—Kansas motorists soon may be able to take their driving with a grain of salt.

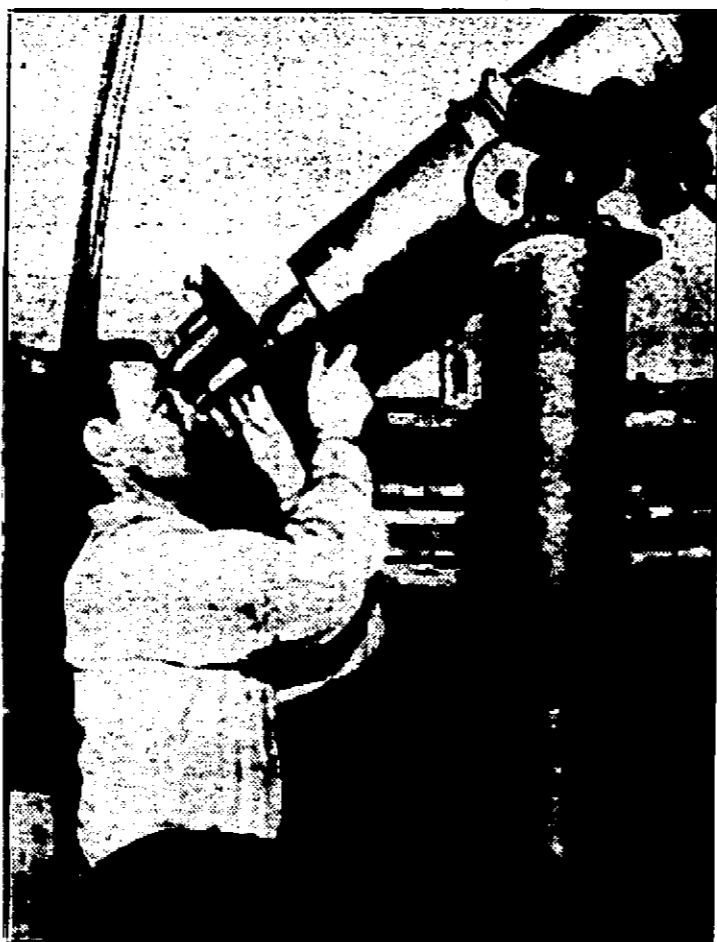

The state highway department is completing the next to the final step in the construction of the first salt highway on a federal route west of the Mississippi, a six and one-half mile stretch west of Eureka in Greenwood county.

A salt-soil stabilization base course, developed by soil research scientists, has been laid on the grade. Over it will be rolled a two-inch macadam surface. The salt course, three inches deep and 24 feet wide, is expected to prevent frost boils, contraction and expansion, and insure a firm, permanent road bed.

Takes Another Walk

Systematic Search.

Cleveland, July 23 (AP).—Police started today a systematic check of fingerprints and missing persons records in an effort to identify the decapitated body of a 40-year-old man, believed by Detective Sergeant James Hogan to be the work of a maniacal killer responsible for four similar crimes in the last year. Not a single clue was discovered in the muddled clothing, piled beside the head, ten feet from the body, in an isolated east side woodland section. As in the case of the other victims, three men and one woman, the body was nude. Coroner A. J. Pearce said he would examine today bloodstains on the coat and blue polo shirt, part of the clothing. He said a preliminary investigation disclosed some doubt that the man was murdered.

A statistician says that the death rate from automobile accidents is much less in Russia than in the United States. True enough. But in Russia the average workman doesn't own his shirt, let alone an automobile. And if he did have a car, there wouldn't be any roads to drive it on.

"No Rain" Is Gloomy Forecast for West

Chicago, July 23 (AP)—A spotty weather map presaged more drouth-aggravating heat in some sections of the corn belt today with farmers already counting their grain losses in millions of bushels.

Scattered local thundershowers, but no immediate prospect of general relief, were predicted by Forecaster J. R. Lloyd at Chicago.

In Nebraska, where temperatures generally exceeded 100 yesterday and ranged up to 110 at Ainsworth, Crop Statistician A. E. Anderson said corn could not withstand more than another rainless week.

He declared that in some parts of the state conditions already were worse than in the 1934 drouth, when Nebraska produced only 26,000,000 bushels, compared with a normal 226,000,000.

Charles D. Reed, Iowa meteorologist, estimated the corn yield expectation in that state had been reduced by 100 to 140 million bushels.

Rising temperatures, after two days in which light scattered rains held down the mercury were indicated in Oklahoma, where a national emergency council survey estimated an 80 per cent loss in corn.

In Indiana a survey showed the probable corn loss already had reached $12,000,000, with the yield reduced an average of four bushels per acre.

Rains, the first since late June in most sections, fell in parts of Michigan yesterday while Detroit remained rainless since July 4.

A blaze which swept across a mile of green timber and into dry woods in Michigan was brought under control, but other fires there and a prairie fire in Nebraska spread.

More heat was forecast for Illinois farmers, on whose behalf Gov. Henry Horner yesterday asked federal relief, despite prospect of some local thundershowers.

West Park Flower Show Judges Named

The Executive Committee for the coming West Park Flower Show, of which Mrs. William A. van Benschoten is the chairman, has announced the names of the judges who will award the prizes at the show which will take place at the Ascension Parish House on September 10 at West Park. The judges chosen are an indication of the high quality of the West Park Show which is generally considered to be Ulster county's finest. The judges chosen are David Burgett, Sidney K. Clapp and Mrs. George Washburn of Kingston, Henry C. Donner of Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, Professor Frank L. Fish of Woodbourne, New York, Mrs. Hermon A. Kelley of St. Remy and Mrs. Charles R. Strong of the Garden Club of Winnetka, Illinois.

Among this year's patronesses are Mrs. Edward Demerest of Rosendale, Miss Katherine Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge, Mrs. George Nutton of Kingston, Mrs. George W. Pratt of Highland, Mrs. Gerrit Quackenbush of Kingston, Mrs. James Roosevelt, Sr. of Hyde Park, Mrs. Frank Seaman of Yama Farm, Mrs. Philip T. Schantz of Highland and Mrs. Holister Sturges of Stone Ridge.

Federal Courts May Probe Wendel Case

Newark, N. J., July 23 (AP)—U. S. District Attorney John J. Quinn advised the federal grand jury today the federal courts in New Jersey have jurisdiction in the Paul H. Wendel case.

Quinn's lengthy opinion virtually assured that the grand jury would open an investigation of the alleged kidnapping and torture of the former Trenton lawyer who charges he was forced into confessing the Lindbergh kidnapping.

The grand jury manifested its interest in the case a few weeks ago, but delayed actual investigation because of the uncertainty whether it had jurisdiction in the case. The alleged kidnapping and torture took place in Brooklyn.

Four Chicago high school girls, three of them Calumet High School students, were announced as winners of all major awards in the nation-wide poster contest among high school students held at Atlantic City by the National Fire Prevention Association.

TWO CLAIM PATERNITY OF TRIPLETS

Two men at West Palm Beach, Fla., claim they are the father of the 9-month-old triplets shown above with their mother, Mrs. T. J. Miller. Louis Pierre, 35, swarthy auto mechanic, left, is one of the claimants. The other, a 56-year-old barber, is the husband of the mother, Mrs. Miller. Miller admitted having lived with both men and said her husband was the father. Judge C. E. Chillingworth, however, reserved decision. (Associated Press Photo)

New Browning Heir Is Born in the South

Dunn N. C. July 23 (AP)—A $4-000,000 baby girl heiress to the estate of the late Edward W. (Daddy) Browning is the talk of this 5,000-population farming town. She is Patricia Lane seven pounds one ounce, born two days ago to Mrs. Clarence B. Hood, adopted daughter of the late New York millionaire.

The 20-year-old mother, who with her baby is doing nicely, is the former Dorothy Sunshine Browning. She eloped in February, 1934, and married Hood here.

Hood, 22, a town commissioner and associated with his mother in a dry-cleaning and laundry business, met his bride while she was attending school here. Elopement to New York, the young couple received Browning's approval.

In his will, Browning made Mrs. Hood the chief beneficiary of his estate, estimated to be worth between $6,000,000 and $10,000,000.

After Browning's death in 1934, by court order she was granted $4-000,000 and her lawyer, Daniel A. Shirk of New York, said there was a good possibility her inheritance might eventually reach $8,000,000.

Pending final distribution of the estate, Mrs. Hood has been receiving $800 per month.

Mrs. Frances (Peaches) Heenan Browning Hynes, Browning's divorced wife who has since remarried, has tried to establish dower rights in the estate and to secure a life income from it. The litigation is pending.

Piles All Gone

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding protruding piles go quickly if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby and lifeless. Salves and cutting often fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal pile medicine. After a fine record of success with it in his own practice he named it HEM-ROID. McBride Drug Stores and all druggists have every pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if not fully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.—Adv.

DIVORCED PERSONS SHOW HIGHEST RATE OF MENTAL ILLS

Boston, July 23 (AP)—Divorced persons show the highest rate of admission to mental hospitals, the Massachusetts Department of Mental Diseases reports.

The department said its findings were based on a study of 61,222 first admissions to New York and Massachusetts mental hospitals over a five-year period.

Married persons, the department continued, have the least chances of becoming mental cases.

The divorced in New York, the department declared, in comparison with the married, "have 3 1/2 times the chance of being admitted to a mental hospital. The Massachusetts ratio of 3.8 is even higher."

Asheville Sheriff Expects Vital Arrest

Asheville, N. C., July 23 (AP)—Sheriff Laurence E. Brown injected a "mystery man," hitherto unmentioned, into the Helen Clevenger case today as the possible slayer of the pretty, 18-year-old New York University student.

The sheriff, chief investigator, said he expected to have the actual killer in custody by tonight. Three men and a young woman remained in jail today, but the sheriff intimated he did not suspect any of them as the actual killer.

"I will arrest the criminal within 48 hours," he stated last night promising a solution of the slaying that occurred in a fashionable hotel a week ago.

Brown declined to reveal the identity of the suspected actual killer believed to have been the shadowy figure seen fleeing across the hotel lobby and out into a storm about 1

a. m., the morning of July 16, the time the officers believe the girl was slain.

Early in the investigation a bell-boy at the hotel told of the stranger's flight, as did a taxi-cab driver who said he saw a man leap a balustrade 12 feet to the street and disappear quickly into the night.

The sheriff released Ed Fleming, a negro bellhop, last night after he had been questioned exhaustively.

The four still detained were: Mark Wollner, 35-year-old concert violinist; Daniel Gaddy, 28-year-old hotel night watchman; L. D. Roddy, 25, negro elevator operator; and Miss Mildred Ward, 19-year-old daughter of Wollner's landlady.

The sheriff would not say what, if any, connection he thought any of the four might have had with the crime or if they had any knowledge of what occurred in Miss Clevenger's room when she was attacked, mutilated and shot to death.

He would discuss the status only of Gaddy and reiterated his belief the nightwatchman "holds the key to solution of the mystery."

ALL MEMBERS of Cornell News Co. are requested to report at the office on Saturday, July 23, 1936, at 1:00 P. M. with cap, belt, light shoes, and dark trousers, for parade. If no parading here in cap and belt.

HOLLYWOOD
SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Even when Dolores Del Rio is not freshly returned from the shopping centers of London and Paris, she remains virtually the last of the stellar sticklers for chic at all times, on all occasions.

Others may relax in slacks and old sweaters, or parade the boulevard in pyjamas, but not dark-eyed Dolores. Morning, noon and night all find her appropriately attired. On tennis court, in swimming pool, in the spectators' stands at sports events or at a cabaret table, the dark Del Rio beauty is framed smartly for the occasion.

She Loves Clothes
 Not that she is haughty about it. It's just that "I love clothes. I always have loved to dress. At home or away from home, I am uncomfortable unless I feel well dressed. First thing every morning I fix my hair as prettily as I can and dress. If I am going out, it will be something tailored—I like that for the street."

"If I am resting at home, I will wear perhaps some hostess pyjamas or some simple house dress. Slacks? Never! I abhor them—they are not even comfortable. I like feminine things. And I could not be one of those women who must hurry to dress up when unexpected callers arrive. I love to dress—for myself."

Bought Lots Of Things
 Dolores as she speaks, has Paris written all over her costume, a tailored something in dark red with navy blue trimmings, and tres chic, as the couturiers would say. She has been to London and Paris to make the picture "Accused" and—

"I love Paris—more than ever before. Paris belongs to the French again. There are so few tourists. And the shops—there are such wonderful things! Hollywood clothes? Of course! I love them. But I could not resist the lovely things. London has them too. Beautiful things. I bought lots and lots of things."

The Mexican star is back to make "Continental," first of a series of features for Columbia. She returns, she says, inspired by the London view of films and their importance.

Pleased With English
 "Everyone is talking pictures there," she says with enthusiasm. "English pictures are prospering, and it is flattering, pleasing, invigorating to see with what ceremony and distinction they surround an evening in a film theater."

"Everyone dresses, tickets are bought as for the legitimate theater, and they pay $2 to see a picture—one picture, not a double bill. One dines first, and then there is the film, and afterward one goes to a cabaret."

"Here," she adds rather wistfully, "people just go to the movies... any time, wearing anything... yes, even wearing slacks."

If the election year bugaboo and the traditional summer slump can be held off just a little longer, they may lose their ancient grip on the public mind.

Trowbridge-Leininger

Henry Leininger, Sr., of 314 Lucas avenue announces the marriage of his daughter, Kathryn Elizabeth, to Howard Trowbridge, son of Mrs. Mina Trowbridge of Olive Bridge. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Hewitt at Olive Bridge. They were attended by Miss Evelyn Leininger, sister of the bride, and Harold Winchell of Stone Ridge.

A Coming Wedding

New York, July 22 (Special)—Miss Lola Helen Taber 27, formerly of Milton and now of 233 East 17th street, New York, and Alexander T. Coelho, 54, a widower, of 373 West 116th street, New York, procured a license to wed at the Marriage Bureau here today. They will be married July 25 at the Brick Presbyterian Church. Miss Taber, the daughter of Charles R. and Helen Clarke Taber, was born in Milton, Mr. Coelho was born in Madeira, Spain, the son of Antonio and Maria Viera Coelho. A former wife died in Poughkeepsie in 1932.

Woodin-Decker

Highland, July 23—Mrs. Denise Decker of Highland announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Lucetta Decker to Alan Woodin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woodin of Pawling. The ceremony took place July 4 and was performed by the pastor of the Town's Baptist Church, the Rev. Joseph Peters. The bride wore a gown of flowered chiffon with white accessories. The couple was attended by Miss Charlotte Harrington of Danbury, Conn., and Elmore Hayt of Patterson, N. Y. After a wedding trip to New York Mr. and Mrs. Woodin will make their home at Pawling.

Wolfe Give Party

Allaben, July 23—Mrs. Solon Wolfe, wife of Dr. Solon Wolfe, of the Hudson River State Hospital, Poughkeepsie, entertained at her summer estate in Broadstreet Hollow on Tuesday afternoon and evening in honor of Harold Downey a home-coming and birthday anniversary. Mr. Downey had just arrived from Louisville, Ky., to spend a few weeks with his family, who have a bungalow on the Wolfe estate. Following a few sets of tennis and a dip in the pool, a cocktail hour was spent on the patio. In the evening a chicken roast was enjoyed around the spacious fireplace in the newly decorated rustic taproom, where the guests assembled. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. William Kopp of St. Albans, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. William Frebert of Belleville, N. J.; Miss Luella Garrity, Miss Gertrude Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Downey and son, George.

There are fruit salads and fruit salads. As a rule, most of them have a pleasant, refreshing quality, but some appear to have just a little more "it" than do others. If you're looking for an unusually delectable combination, try apricots, bananas and cherries together sometime. Individually these three fruits are delightful. Together they make a delightful summer salad with an all-appeal. Children love combinations of fruit with a mild dressing and other members of the family enjoy them too.

Indian Adding Machine

Odd String Arrangement

When an Inca king of ancient Peru wanted to announce a law, count his army, send a message, record a battle, or issue an edict, he sent for his quipu maker. Unlike the Mayan and the Aztec to the north the Incas had no written language, and so the quipu took its place. It was made of a number of strings all tied at one end to a main string, relates a writer in Pathfinder Magazine. At first it was used only to count and was quite simple, knots being tied to represent tens, hundreds, and thousands. Later, however, as the makers gained in skill, the quipu became more complicated. Strings of different colors were used, and instead of simply tying knots in the individual strings they were knotted together to convey messages. At the height of the empire quipu makers and translators were stationed in every important town and quipus circulated widely.

A few of these relics are still in existence although their stories remain mostly untold because the art of translation was destroyed with the rest of the Indian culture by the Spaniards. The Field Museum, in Chicago, recently ended a ten-year search when a surprised official discovered one where it had been lying unnoticed among other articles in the museum.

Mail for Tristans Not More Than Once a Year

To the inhabitants of Tristan da Cunha, the world's most isolated bit of land, Christmas comes when the mail comes, observes a writer in the Washington Post.

The tiny island is set in the South Atlantic, midway between the Cape of Good Hope and Cape Horn. Thunderous seas break almost continuously over its bleak and forbidding shores. Winds of hurricane force roar day and night.

But because it is a part of the far-flung British empire, Tristan receives at least one steamer visit a year, but few more. There is no anchorage so the vessel stays off shore and, awaiting a rare calm spell, sends landing parties in small boats.

The arrival of the vessel is the high spot of the year to the 120 or so Tristans—descendants of a small group placed on the island 100 years back when England took possession. The people are hardy and frugal. Their diet consists entirely of fruit, potatoes, fish and mutton. Though monotonous, the diet agrees with them.

Revolutionary War Trick

Maj. David Zeigler, who upon appointment by President Jefferson became the first marshal of the Ohio district, was taken prisoner in Philadelphia during the Revolutionary war together with two other American officers. Soon afterward the three men escaped and, in fleeing, stopped at the house of a German family near the city. Major Zeigler, who had begun his military career in the army of Frederick the Great, posed as a Dutch doctor to gain the friendship of the German family. Making some pills of bread and water, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, he cured the wife of some minor ailment and the three men were thereafter not only treated cordially but did not have to pay any bills for board and lodging.

Early California

California was almost entirely isolated from the rest of the world, at the time it was admitted as a state, and during the gold rush era that followed. Somehow the printed words regarding the unpopulated western plains from the Mississippi to the Rockies, the herd of buffalo, tribes of warlike Indians, nonexistence of telegraph and railroad communication, just simply do not seem to click in the average mind. History asserts that gold seekers made the trip from New York by boat all the way down the coast of the two Americas, round the Horn and up the Pacific coast to San Francisco, in less time than it took expeditions starting from Chicago to cross the plains with prairie schooners, but either trip is hard to visualize.

Most Deadly Animal

The crocodile, not the lion, is the greatest killer of human beings in Africa. This slimy, foul-smelling monster, the largest living reptile known to man, lurks along paths near the water's edge and lies in wait below foot-logs hoping that the unwary traveler will fall into the water. He is the most hated creature alive. Yet his numbers seem to increase rather than diminish.

Graphic Term

"Alligatoring" is a term used to describe the appearance of a paint film that has cracked into large segments, resembling the hide of an alligator. Alligatoring is usually caused by one coat being applied over another before the bottom coat is thoroughly hard and dry, or by a less elastic material being applied over a more elastic coating material.

Rain Does Not Clear Air

Contrary to popular belief, rain does not clear the air, according to records made by health authorities in 34 of the largest cities in the United States. Automatic air filters, used to measure the degree of atmospheric pollution in these towns, failed to show any increase in cleanliness either during or after the fall of rain.

This year marks the 57th anniversary of the unveiling and dedication of the Statue of Liberty, that world-famous copper memorial to freedom. This recalls a statue which was equally famous in another Greece—the huge bronze work, Colossus of Rhodes, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world.

Col. Lindbergh Warns Nazis of Their Grave Peace Responsibility

Berlin, July 23 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh warned Nazi aviation officials today of their responsibility in creating new deadly weapons of aerial warfare which, he said, makes necessary a new security of "intelligence and not force."

The American flier told a luncheon meeting he realized "we must look for a new type of security" after observing air combat development which could, within a day or two, cause "damage which no time can ever replace."

Aviators, he said, "unlike the builders of the first dugout canoe, have lived to see their harmless wings of fabric turned into carriers of destruction—even more dangerous than the guns of a battleship."

"We have lived to carry on our shoulders the responsibility for the results of our experiments, which in other fields have been passed on to future generations."

Aviation, the distinguished visitor declared, had created the most fundamental change ever made in

Furniture Names Traced to Far-Fetched Meanings

Often the names of pieces of furniture have strange origin. A divan is not a "carriage for two," as one might hastily guess, but a chair of state. It is from the Persian "diwan" and refers to a low couch without back or ends, on the authority of Webster's International Dictionary. Davenport has the familiar meaning of "large upholstered sofa often convertible into a bed" and also refers to a kind of small writing desk, both designs by the gentleman of that name. The word desk itself is rather strange, since it comes from the Latin "discus" and is related to "dish."

That the word chair comes from "kathedra" (Greek), a combination of roots meaning "sit" and "down," has been remarked often enough. Chest comes from the Greek "kiste," a box; table from Latin "tabula," a board; cabinet from "gabinets," Italian for a small cage or basket, and commode is from the French word meaning convenient.

These are reasonable, but consider bureau, a French word for desk with a Latin origin in "burra," a shaggy garment. Desks once were covered with woolen cloths, it appears. "Carpet" comes quite naturally from Latin words referring to carding and weaving, but rug is Norwegian. In Swedish, "rugg" means entangled hair.—New York Sun.

Road Built by Napoleon

Engineering Masterpiece
 Napoleon invaded Italy by crossing over the St. Bernard mountain. When he had ended the campaign by destroying the Italian army at the battle of Marengo and had returned to France, he determined to emphasize and render permanent his success by constructing a great military road into Italy, states a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The execution of the work was entrusted to M. Card, one of the foremost engineers of the day. It was begun on the Italian side in 1800 and on the Swiss side in 1801, and was finished in six years.

The road was made over a shoulder of the Stimpson mountain, from Pysiaz in Valais to Domo d'Ossola, in the north part of Piedmont, Italy. The summit of the mountain over which it passed was 6,562 feet above sea level. The road was from 25 to 30 feet broad, and had nowhere throughout its extent a slope of greater than one foot in thirteen. It was carried across 611 bridges, over numerous galleries cut out of the solid rock or built of masonry, and through a number of tunnels. The road was one of the masterpieces of the engineering of that day, and cost about $3,500,000, half of which was borne by France and the remainder by Switzerland.

Joy of Accomplishment

Give thanks for the hard job! If it were not for the difficult thing there would be no joy in accomplishment nor any reward for effort. There is always room at the top because getting there is a hard thing to do. But bear in mind, once you are there it is the difficulty of reaching you that makes your place secure. Winning was always easy then the top would be crowded and where would be the challenge, the struggle that so stirs the spirit of a man? Difficulty is what saved the world from becoming but a mine of mediocrity.

Pony Express Foreword

Although history has never made it quite clear, the Lyon collection of Pony Express stamps and "frankies" or envelopes reveals that there were really two pony expresses, although the first was not officially known as such. The original organization was a Wells Fargo service that came into being in 1830 and undoubtedly paved the way for the official Pony Express, which made its debut April 3, 1860. Stamped by Samuel Wells and Alexander Majors, a pioneer freighter of the plains.

British Treaty

A thirty-three-year-old treaty of the Church of England, John Robinson, in 1713, made the most important treaty in British history. The representative British at the Congress of Utrecht and secured an article of the war of the Spanish Succession, William's Bay Treaty, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Gibraltar. The treaty was what was important, for it gave Britain command of the Mediterranean and was the rock on which was founded British naval and colonial supremacy.

war. "It has abolished what we call defensive warfare," he asserted. "We can no longer protect our families with an army..."

"Aviation has brought a revolutionary change to a world already staggering from changes."

"It is our responsibility to make sure that in so doing we do not destroy the very things we wish to protect."

He reiterated:

"We who are in aviation carry a heavy responsibility on our shoulders."

"For, while we have been drawing the world closer together in peace, we have stripped the armor from every nation in war."

"It is no longer possible to shield the heart of a country with its army."

Lindbergh appeared to observers at the luncheon to be conscious throughout his address he was speaking in a center of tremendous activity.

He described what he has seen in Europe as "serious."

"We must look for a new type of security," he said he realized what he saw "within a day or two the age which could be done, which time in ever replace."

The new security, he declared, must be "dynamic and not static" and must be "security which rests in intelligence and not force."

Colonials Drop Hard Fought Game To Mohawk Giants at Schenectady

Colored Stars Take 5-1 Decision Before 3,000 Fans at Schenectady Stadium; Shackett Allows Only Four Hits But Mates' Errors in Pinches Prove Costly.

Despite a brilliant 4-hit pitching performance by King Kong Shackett, the Kingston Colonials lost a hard fought game to the famous Mohawk Giants by a score of 5 to 1 yesterday before 3,000 fans in the Schenectady stadium. It was the fifth time this season that Shackett lost a 4-hit game.

The game, described as the best on the Schenectady diamond this season, saw Shackett hold the colored sluggers to a pair of hits in the first seven innings. In the eighth inning, the Mohawks put the game on ice with two hits and three costly miscues by the Colonials.

Shackett's pitching, Jimmy Turk's brilliant fielding and the all-round play of the Colonials drew considerable applause from the fans and assured the locals of several choice bookings upstate. Manager Fred Davi and Booking Manager Harold Jones completed arrangements for a night game Sunday in Schenectady following their afternoon exhibition at Amsterdam.

Flemmings, veteran Mohawk pitcher, allowed six hits and fanned five, but was backed by sensational support, the Mohawk infield chalking up 14 assists. Campbell, Jeffries and Miller played a sparkling defensive game for the Mohawks. Campbell left the Mohawks last night to join the Newark Eagles of the Negro National League.

The Colonials scored a run in the first inning on two walks, a force play and Charley Lay's single. Hoffman opened the sixth with a single but was stranded. Van Etten's single started the ninth and after one out, Durant made a sensational catch of Tiano's hard liner to deep center.

A walk to Miller, Jeffries' sacrifice and Markham's single tied the score for the Mohawks in the first inning. Campbell's triple and Markham's long fly produced another marker in the sixth.

Flemming opened the ninth with a fly to Tiano, but Freleigh committed his first error on Miller. Jeffries lined out a single and Lay bobbed it around. Another error by Freleigh and Crumley's single resulted in three runs.

Turk accepted six hard chances at short for the Colonials. Freleigh played a brilliant game until the last frame. No player on either club connected for more than one safety.

One-Man Track Team From Colorado

GLENN MCGRIS of Fort Collins, Colo., former athletic hero and student leader of Colorado State College, is rated by Brutus Hamilton of California, the Olympic decathlon coach, as the greatest all-around athlete ever entered in the Olympic Games. Morris already has bettered the Olympic decathlon record made in 1932 by Jim Bausch of Kansas and the world mark established two years ago by Hans Sievert of Germany. The Colorado all-arounder is shown above in part of the decathlon repertory which lists: 100-, 400-, and 1,500-meter races, broad and high jumps, shotput, high hurdles, discus and javelin throws and pole vault.

Giants Beat St. Louis Cards, 8-2; Yankees Lose Third Straight Game

By The Associated Press

Bill Terry and Rogers Hornsby, a couple of McGraw boys who learned their lessons well under the "Old Man," are carving "miracle man" reputations for themselves out of the hides of stout pennant favorites as the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees these days.

For instance, there's Terry, whose New York Giants were expected to collapse and sink definitely out of the picture along about mid-season. They collapsed, all right, but Terry brought them right back, and now they're in third place again, hot after the creaky Cardinals.

And Hornsby, with the St. Louis Browns, has become the only man in the American League to solve the slugging dynamite of the Yanks. "Feed 'em slow balls," he told his pitchers. They did, and the Browns became the only club to hand three straight losses on "Murderers' Row" this season.

When Carl Hubbell and Mel Ott are right, Terry's Giants go places. At the moment, both "The Hub" and the "Kid Veteran" are red-hot, so the Giants have taken two straight over the Cards. Hubbell's pitching won Tuesday's game, and Ott, Gus Mancuso and young Hurler Gabby Gabler, making his first start of the season, combined to take an 8-2 decision yesterday.

With the Pirates losing a 16-4 slugfest to the Phillies, in which Johnny Moore belted three homers, the Giants shot into third place and the Bucs slipped to fifth. The Cincinnati Reds, who won their second straight over the Boston Bees, 7-4, took over fourth place. The league lead of the Cubs was stretched to three full games by the Cardinals' defeat, as the Chicago champions nosed out the Dodgers 3-2 with Larry French posting his tenth pitching win.

The Browns, who came out of the American League cellar by downing the Yankees Sunday and Tuesday, stretched the New Yorkers' losing streak to three—their longest of the season—yesterday with a 5-5 win, chiefly on the hitting of aging and ailing Jim Bottomley and the hurling of Irv Andrews.

By the defeat, the Yankees' American League lead was cut to seven games, smallest it has been in weeks, for the second-place Cleveland Indians again slugged the Red Sox, winning 5-2, with Earl Averill leading a 13-hit attack to drop the gold-plated Bostonians to fifth place.

The Chicago White Sox took over fourth place, just beating the Senators in a 12-inning pitching thriller that saw Johnny Whitehead beat Earl Whitehill 3-2. The Tigers found Rookie Herman Funk in particular and the Athletics in general too tough and suffered a 7-5 setback, but managed to hang onto third place.

Triples Not Enough

Despite some heavy hitting by the Ulster Parkites, including two triples, the Trinity Lutherans, with Tiber Tomshaw doing the hurling, handed the down-river lads another defeat, 14-7.

A New Idea

Trinity Lutheran will play the Clinton Avenue team on Friday of this week at Forsyth Park. This game is scheduled for late in September, but due to the short evenings that occur at this time, it was decided to play the game ahead of time and thus have better playing conditions. Perhaps other teams might try the same thing and thus eliminate these short evening games.

Entry List Swells For Tennis Tourney

Fifteen entries have been received so far for the annual tennis tournament to be held at Forsyth Park, starting on Saturday. Play will continue throughout next week for the championship title in men's singles. Pairings for the opening round will be announced tomorrow night in The Freeman.

A slight change in the ruling will permit first round matches to be played for a period of three days instead of two as was previously announced. This change was made because Sunday play at the park is limited from 2 p. m. o.

The score card, with first round pairings, will be put up at the park Saturday noon. Matches may be played on Saturday morning, however. In the event of rain, the tournament will be postponed one day or as the case may demand.

two runs and scoring two in victory over Red Sox.

Bob Johnson, Athletics—Hit double and single scoring three runs, and had five assists in 7-6 win over Tigers.

With a six run outburst in the second inning to pave the way, the Kaslich A. C. defeated the Huron Indians last night at the Athletic Field by 10-6.

Johnny Burgevin was tossing them over for the A. C. and was nipped for nine hits by the tribe while his mates touched old Rud North for the same number. The Kaslich victory put the Hurons in the cellar by virtue of four straight defeats.

Manager Baumgarten's boys were guilty of some loose fielding and coupled with the A. C.'s heating stick welding, made the going rough for the Stone Riders.

The winners opened the scoring in the first frame when Minasian singled, stole second and scored on wild pitch and an infield out. The tribe tied it up in their half of the frame when McLean walked and scored on C. Neff's hit and an error by Dawkins.

Tony Debrosky started the rage in the second inning with a home run smash over the catcher's head. Stumpf, Flanagan and Messinger loaded the bases. Burgevin grounded to LaPolt, who fumbled and one run scored. Messinger's double and Jansen's single put the game on ice.

Game Tonight

Grunewald's Home Leaders at the Hedrick Brewers will play their protested game at the Athletic Field tonight. Both teams are due for first place in the City League with three wins each. Joe Nale and Joe Brown will get the call tonight's battle.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Montreal—Floyd Marshall, 275, Phoenix, Ariz., defeated Char Strack, 229, Stillwater, Okla., out of three falls.

Portland, Ore.—Dave Levin, 175, New York, won two straight over Gus Sonnenberg, 205, Boston.

One Question That's Been Settled Is, 'Who's Handling Jesse Owens?'

Aboard S. S. Manhattan, enroute to Berlin, July 23 (AP).—Among the most questions that have been settled with the approach of the American Olympic forces to their base of Olympic operations is "Who's handling Jesse Owens?"

Officially Head Coach Lawson Robertson, himself an old time sprinter, was designated to take charge of the dash men. First, an exception was made for Frank Wykoff, whose old coach, Dean Cromwell, is on the staff. And now it has been established that Owens is to take advice and directions solely from Larry Snyder, Ohio State sprinter.

The situation was brought to a head when Robertson asked Owens his preference, and the Negro promptly replied he wanted to work out only under Snyder's guidance.

This brought into the spotlight an anomalous situation. Snyder is aboard paying his own expenses and is recognized only as an "associate coach," denied the privileges of Olympic identity cards, uniforms and of the Olympic village, except as a visitor. In the same situation are Red Todell, who coaches the hammer throwers; Carl Olson, traveling with John Woodruff, the Pittsburgh 500 meter star; and Francis Welch, who is with Archie San Romani, the European, Kanae, Miller.

"I am willing to cooperate as far as possible and surely will handle Owens, Dave Albright and any others I'm requested to coach, but I dislike being classified as a 'kook,'" said Snyder. "I have been given an official run-around, but the important thing to me is to get Owens into the best condition to capture the triple Olympic honors, which he is sure to do."

Snyder especially resented Robertson's suggestion that the only way to Owens' training is his "showdown off the track." Snyder insists Owens can lead any sprinter at any distance, adding pointedly, "There's no payoff at fifty meters in a hundred meter race. Owens is no jack-rabbit, but the surest piece of running machinery we have ever seen."

The athletes were gratified by the statement made yesterday by Chairman Avery Brundage which clarifies the American Olympic committee's position in regard to their conduct on board ship and removes the suspicion of general misbehavior.

Lehman Renews Efforts to Extract Parker for Hearing

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP) —

He asked Governor Hoffman of New Jersey to reconsider his re-to extradite the chief of detectives Burlington (N. J.) county, and at the same time sent a letter to the man from the Kings county district attorney saying the New Jersey governor had been "ill-advised" concerning the validity of the writ.

In denying two weeks ago New York's application for extradition

Hoffman said the language of the indictment did not specifically set forth "the acts and facts" constituting the crime charged.

District Attorney William F. Geoghan of Kings county wrote Governor Lehman, however, that the dictment was "regular," and that Hoffman had only two questions to pass upon: (1) Is Parker a fugitive from justice from the demanding state and (2) is he the person named in the requisition and extradition.

In the Lindbergh case, W.

made a confession which he said forced from him by threats and torture, and which he repudiated.

Yesterday, Wendel offered to a federal grand jury in Newark, N. J., that he tried in vain to learn from Hoffman whether the governor had any knowledge of the time of his kidnapping.

Parents and Friends to Visit Camp Happyland

What a surprise and delight Christmas seals will make for 48 kiddies of Ulster county who will be hosts to their parents and friends on visiting day Sunday, July 26, at 3 p. m. at Camp Happyland.

The children will give their parents an entertainment in song and verse of the happy and healthy things they have learned and practiced while enjoying a most delightful vacation as the guests of the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health at this important outpost.

The sun and fresh air have painted skins many shades browner, 50 quarts of milk a day with plenty of good food in regular meals and a well balanced diet with seconds and always a clean plate back to the pantry will shine out in added weight, strength, grace and vigor. After group visiting until 5 p. m. the youngsters will again settle down to get ready for their picnic under the trees where a surprise of new sandwiches, cake or dessert or maybe a marshmallow roast awaits them.

At this time the public will be invited to visit the new recreation hall added this year through the interest, effort and generosity of the camp chairman, James F. Loughran. The infirmary adjacent to the recreation hall which has been furnished by the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs in memory of Dr. Mary Gage-Day will also be ready for visitation.

Because of precaution against contagious diseases parents and friends are asked not to bring children under 16 years of age to Camp Happyland.

On Monday evening the Christmas seal committee will be the guests of the boys for their annual July meeting and entertainment at camp. During the week the boys will pick up and clean up to make way for 48 Ulster county girls who will embark for Camp Happyland at Academy Green on August 3 at 2 p. m.

Coast Guard Vessel Investigate Flares

Tampa, Fla., July 23 (P)—A coast guard vessel hurried to investigate reported distress flares in the Gulf of Mexico today while other cutters and planes far to the south continued their hunt for the British motorship Nunoca, missing with 22 aboard. Captain W. J. Wheeler, coast guard commander at Mobile, said he doubted the flares could have been sent up from the Nunoca.

To have reached the vicinity, the Nunoca, bound from Grand Cayman Island to Tampa with 22 persons aboard, would have drifted nearly 175 miles beyond its goal. When the Nunoca left Georgetown, Grand Cayman, July 4, there was food for five or six days aboard. The voyage requires only five days, usually.
